

Global Problem Solvers: The Series – Season 1, Working Well

Teaching Companion

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=9073w4aL7MY>

Adrien, France
Creativity

Kelile, Malawi
Social consciousness

Cristina, Brazil
Entrepreneurial spirit

Beela, Jordan
Digital skills

Putri, India
Teamwork skills

Satoshi, Japan
Critical thinking

Worksheet

1. Match game!

The Global Problem Solvers are a team dedicated to using their special skills to create a better world. Which attribute of a Global Problem Solver best describes each team member?

- Beela
- Adrien
- Satoshi
- Kelile
- Cristina
- Putri

- Social consciousness
- Digital skills
- Entrepreneurial spirit
- Creativity
- Teamwork skills
- Critical thinking

2. Which special skills do you bring to global problem solving?
3. How is the broken well affecting the village? The children?
4. What have you or someone you know done to make the world – and that includes your own community – a better place?

Global Problem Solvers: The Series – Season 1, Working Well

9. What do the Global Problem Solvers do in this season to get through the whirlwind? Check all that apply.
- Devise a business plan Involve local people in the solution Adapt existing resources to new solutions
- Make flyburgers
10. How do the Global Problem Solvers modify their sensors for when there's flooding?
11. A business plan helps entrepreneurs assess the viability of their idea, develop effective strategies for success, and attract needed investment, talent, and resources. What is the Global Problem Solvers' business plan in Malawi?
12. Select the three themes you heard in this season:
- Teamwork Identifying the problem Marketing
- Skateboarding Gathering data
13. What skills are you learning in school that make you an effective global problem solver? What would you like to learn to make you even better at it?
14. Come up with an idea for a social enterprise. How would you summarize your idea in what is known in business as an "elevator pitch," a succinct statement that can be delivered in thirty seconds or less? (Why is it called an elevator pitch? Imagine it as a sales pitch you can only make to someone during a brief elevator ride.)